Introduction

Following the success of our first annual East Midlands MEP Guides, we are now publishing our second East Midlands MEP guide, featuring updated information following the May 2014 European elections.

The guide is organised alphabetically by MEP name. All information is up to date as of August 2014.

For each MEP you will find details of their political party, European group and committees, alongside their contact details and, where available, their Twitter feed.

In addition at the front of this booklet you will find useful introductions to the European Parliament and One East Midlands ERDF Reach & Impact project.

For further information on individual MEPs and the European Parliament visit www.europarl.org.uk.

Introduction to European Parliament

The European Parliament is the directly elected parliamentary institution of the European Union (EU). Together with the Council of the EU and the European Commission, it exercises the legislative function of the EU and it has been described as one of the most powerful legislatures in the world.

The Parliament is composed of 751 (previously 766) members, who represent the second largest democratic electorate in the world (after the Parliament of India) and the largest trans-national democratic electorate in the world (375 million eligible voters in 2009)

It has been directly elected every five years by universal suffrage since 1979. However, turnout at European Parliament elections has fallen consecutively at each election since that date, and has been under 50 percent since 1999. Turnout in 2014 stood at 42.54 percent of all European voters.

Parliament is also the "first institution" of the EU, meaning that it is mentioned first in the treaties and has ceremonial precedence over all authority at European level, and shares equal legislative and budgetary powers with the Council, except in a few areas where the special legislative procedures apply. The European Parliament also has equal control with the Council over the EU budget.

The European Commission, the executive body of the EU, is accountable to Parliament. In particular, Parliament elects the President of the Commission, and approves, or rejects, the appointment of the Commission as a whole. It can subsequently force the Commission as a body to resign by adopting a motion of censure.
