

Creating an East Midlands Inclusion Framework together

We need your views on Inclusion, we need your views on what works? What doesn't work? What do we mean when we say inclusion? What are the barriers? Who's delivering a successful inclusion approach? Where are the best practice examples locally and nationally? What might be the key principles involved?

Background to the survey

New Ground Consultancy Ltd (led by Paul Pearson and Jo Bradley- Fortune) has been asked by One East Midlands to consult with organisations across the East Midlands to contribute to the development an East Midlands Inclusion Framework (EMIF)

The EMIF will build on the experience, knowledge and perspectives in the region and sector and research into strategy and best practice across the country.

EMIF aims to:

- be usable by all sectors to work against exclusion and poverty and support the work of policymakers and commissioners

Third sector members will be able to:

- use the framework to establish/benchmark alignment
- hold one another and themselves to account against the framework
- use the framework to help develop their own policy.

Our aim is to complete the Framework document by 30th June 2018

We would welcome your views so please COMPLETE THE SURVEY by 5th May 2018.
